[Guide to the NT18 Tewa File]

This file covers the Tewa pueblos of Hano, Nambe, Pojuaque, San Ildefonso San Juan, Santa Clara, Tano and Tesuque. Much of the material processed pertains only to San Ildefonso and San Juan however with some additional information on Santa Clara, Hano, and Nambe.

Source 5: Whitman is a general ethnography of San Ildefonso with special emphasis on acculturation. 1: Parsons is a classic study of Tewa social organization. Sources 2, 3, and 4, are specialized studies of the ethnozoology, ethnogeography and ethnobotany of the Tewa. Sources 7, 8, 9, and 10, are also specialized studies covering birth, mortality, and other factors affecting health and child rearing. Other studies included in the file cover kinship, games, pottery, and ceremonials.

This file contains an unusual amount of specialized materials not generally found in standard ethnographies in addition to good coverage of the more traditional subjects such as kinship and social organization.
